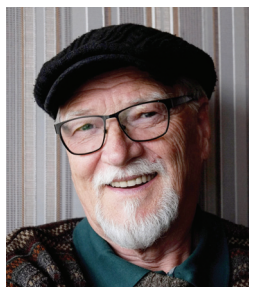
Downsizing, art exchanges and a yard sale



GEORGE FARRELL
On Arts

WE'RE DOWNSIZING and in the process of painting the interior of our house so we can put it on the market. Right now our place is a jumble, with rooms full of boxes awaiting a spring yard sale. It's a revelation to see all the stuff we've accumulated; things that have been put away in closets and drawers and haven't seen the light of day in years. The inclination is to reminisce about every rediscovered piece, until we realize that doing so will not get the job done; so the once-valued item goes from closet to box, its significance a mere memory, no longer cherished enough to warrant its keeping.

I was surprised when I saw how much artwork was among the items that must go. In addition to at least 10 decent-sized canvases of my own that were never sold, we also have numerous pieces by various artists. I've decided I'll cover my own canvases with the appropriate white paint and sell them at a bargain price to artists who are in need of pristine surfaces. But what to do with all the rest of our art? Downsizing will give us even less wall space and storage.

A couple of years ago, the Rails End Gallery came up with the concept of Art Heaven, which was billed as a second-time-around exhibition and fundraiser. The gallery had collected forgotten and unwanted art from people's attics, storage containers, closets and studios, and priced it to fly out of the gallery. The art, which ran from paintings to pottery, made for an eclectic and fascinating exhibition that revealed some hidden gems. Art Heaven was a great way to divest oneself of once-loved art that might be loved again by someone else, and I hope that the gallery has another Art Heaven. However it had one drawback for us, because we came away from the event with as much art as we donated.

Most art that people have on their walls or on their mantles tends to stay there, and sometimes I wish I could look at some different art on our walls. Much of the art we have stored away had previously been on our walls for years, and though on occasion we buy new pieces, it would be good to see different art more often.

In city centres there are florists who constantly rotate blooming orchids and other decorative plants as a corporate and private client service. The idea is that the vegetation is always fresh and new. Along the same lines, I wonder if in the Highlands we could figure out a way to exchange art, so that every few months or so, our walls would feature new images. There could be a website developed that would let somebody see all the artwork that people were willing to loan out, in exchange for other art.

For instance I might be willing to loan out a John Lennard painting in exchange for a Brian Atyeo; or a Rod Prouse for an Yves Ameline. The exchange would not necessarily reflect the fiscal worth of each piece, but would serve to rejuvenate and energize our spaces, plus circulate the art to potential new clients. The website could also be a place where people could get in touch with each other for the purpose of selling art.

Of course such an undertaking would have to be funded, but I don't think it's beyond the realm of possibility. Maybe a membership to such an art exchange club would involve a small fee; and perhaps the Arts Council might like to be part of the concept.

All this was going through my mind as I wrapped a small painting by Gary Chapman in newspaper, and placed it in a box. Would we find a space for it in our new place or would it end up on someone else's wall? I realize the idea of an online art exchange is far-fetched and the Art Heaven concept of donating unwanted art and/or buying other people's unwanted art is eminently more do-able.

The difference is with an art exchange you're not giving anything away, merely exchanging one piece of art for another, for a period of time. In the meantime, while an art exchange is still a pipe dream, and before Art Heaven comes around again, you just might find a great art bargain at our spring-time yard sale.

Spring is on its way in the animal world, writes Belinda Gallagher who took this photo of some local turkeys.

Building on our legacy in this rustic northern setting, we are a progressive camp with fully modern amenities, offering the kinds of activities that kids today really want. Onondaga Camp values the diversity of people. We welcome and encourage applications from all people.

Those Other Movies presents Doc(K) Day 2018 - Look A Little Closer

A day of feature length and short documentaries at Pinestone Resort on April 7

10:30 a.m. – Abacus: Small Enough To Jail – 88 minutes

A gripping real-life legal thriller with far-reaching implications. Accused of mortgage fraud, Abacus becomes the only U.S. bank to face criminal charges in the wake of the 2008 financial crisis. The indictment and subsequent trial forces the Sung family to defend themselves – and their bank's legacy in the Chinatown community. 2018 Academy Award nominee.

2 p.m. - Bombshell: The Hedy Lamarr Story - 90 minutes

When Nazi U-Boats torpedoed a ship carrying 83 school children during the Second World War, Hollywood movie star, Hedy Lamarr, "the most beautiful woman in the world," decided to exact revenge. At night, after shooting her scenes on set, she worked on a secret radio system that would revolutionize mobile communications all over the world, a feat that would directly lead to the creation of secure communications for wireless phones, Bluetooth, GPS and Wi-Fi technology itself.

4 p.m. - Faces Places – 89 minutes

Oscar nominated, Faces Places is a lively, fun, stirring tribute to art and its ability to touch people and bring souls together. Equal parts breezily charming and poignantly powerful, Faces Places is a unique cross-generational portrait of life in rural France from the great filmmaker, Agnès Varda.

7:30 p.m. - Rumble: The Indians Who Rocked The World - 103 minutes

Using playful re-creations and little-known stories, alongside concert footage, audio archives, and interviews with living legends, this deeply insightful film cements how some of our most treasured artists and songs found their inspiration in ancient, native melodies and harmonies that were infused with a desire to resist. You'll never listen to your favourite rock and roll classics the same way again.

9:30 p.m. – Wrap Party – 120 minutes

The Highlander Room at Pinestone Resort will be the place to decompress and chat about all the stories from the day. Cash bar and appetizers will be available.

Pinestone Resort has offered a special room rate of $115 plus tax for those who'd prefer to stay. Ask for the Doc(k) Day rate.

Passes are $30 for the day and can be purchased at the door or online at Brown Paper Tickets:

www.brownpapertickets.com/event/3330234.

Individual tickets are $10 and available before each show.

Effective orators

The Haliburton and District Lions had the privilege of having Jonah, Levi and Rachael Aldom visit their club on Monday, March 12, and present their speeches for the District A16 Lions Club Effective Speaking Contest to the membership. The three students could have moved forward to the next level but have decided that they will observe the speeches at the next district final on Saturday, March 24, at Trinity United Church in Newmarket and possibly come back next year to compete. Great job Jonah, Levi and Rachael. /Submitted by Linda Heeps

Russell and Jean Reid lived in Haliburton village through the Depression and beyond. Russell worked as a carpenter. He died in 1959. Jean decided to sell their century home to the Rotary Club of Haliburton, which gifted it to the municipality to house a new museum. Although the museum moved into its current location in 1980, the Reid House is still used and has been furnished to reflect life circa 1900. This photo was taken in front of the Reids' barn likely sometime in the 1940s.

Everyone loves a party

KATE BUTLER
Special to County Life

2017 was, as I imagine everyone knows by now, an extremely important year for the Municipality of Dysart et al as it celebrated its sesquicentennial along with our country. In 2018, however, we'll be marking another birthday – the 50th anniversary of the opening of the Haliburton Highlands Museum!

The museum opened on October 13, 1968, but it had been in the works for a while prior to that. The museum began its life as a Canadian centennial project, as many community museums around the country did. The Rotary Club was a key partner in plans to start a local museum, as were local schoolteachers such as Margaret Sisson and Clara "Kell" Andison.

The museum was originally located downtown and the collection was housed entirely in Reid House, an 1882 village home, at the north end of where the Parklane Apartments are today.

The Rotary Club of Haliburton purchased the house for $5,000 and gifted it to the Municipality for the purpose of creating a community museum. The museum also made use of the Reid Barn which stood on the property.

The original name of the museum was actually the Haliburton Highlands Pioneer Museum and its collection was created in tribute to the early European settlers who came to the area in the 19th century.

Within 10 years, the collection had begun to outgrow the confines of Reid House and the decision was made to move the museum (and Reid House) to their current locations in Glebe Park. A new museum gallery space was constructed and officially opened on July 1, 1980.

With the opening of the new gallery, Reid House, newly moved to Glebe Park was dialed back to reflect life when the house was constructed in 1882. The house had been modernized up to the late 1960s before being fitted with showcases for the museum, so this was no small feat! Within five years, the museum expanded again to include our 1870s farmstead which proves so popular with visitors every summer.

As the collection and buildings expanded, the museum also grew to include professional staff to care for the collection.

Though our job at the museum is to preserve and share the history of our community, it's also important to remember that the museum itself has a history and that's what we look forward to celebrating this year. Throughout the year, we hope you'll share your memories with us.

Perhaps you visited on a school trip in the 1980s or maybe you were at the official opening of the museum in 1968. Do you perhaps have photos of the museum's earlier days, when the trees of Glebe Park were smaller and the main gallery had gasp wall to wall broadloom? If so, please get in touch, so that we can continue to tell the story of the museum in the fullest way possible. Oh, and consider this your invitation to a fantastic birthday party later this year – we'd love to see you there!

Kate Butler is the director of the Haliburton Highlands Museum.

Top 10 signs you know it's spring

STEVE GALEA
Humour Columnist

THIS WEEK, if you believe people like scientists, groundhog handlers and calendar makers, spring officially arrives. I happen to have some faith in those folks but the truth of the matter is I prefer to see a few of the signs that I've come to associate with spring before I truly believe it has arrived.

Here are my top 10:

1. The Running of the Shorts: The first time you see a middle–aged man walking down the street in shorts, you know that spring is coming. Its proximity depends on the signs, however. Blue-white legs mean six more weeks of winter. Red legs mean the guy has just returned from Florida and miscalculated.
2. The transition: From the sound of snow blowers to lawn mowers.
3. The silence of the black flies: When you walk outside and see people apparently doing Tai Chi in silence, spring has truly arrived. That's because what these folks are actually doing is swatting at a swarm of black flies and not opening their mouths for fear of swallowing them.
4. Sticky handshakes: Fortunately, it's just the result of the poor maple syrup handling practices.
5. The sound of returning songbirds – hitting your window.
6. That first bug splat. It's why you never see joggers wearing glasses.
7. Finding the last patch of glare ice: Around here it's not spring until I've dropped my guard and found the last patch of glare ice.
8. Doing the first back flip of the year: Some people believe this is an outward sign of the joy we feel when spring days arrive. Actually, it's a person like me finding the last patch of glare ice.
9. New colognes: You know it is spring when the men of this county switch from Old Spice and Aqua Velva to Deep Woods Off.
10. A brief fitness craze: Once the good weather starts you'll see all sorts of people jogging, walking and going to the gym in an effort to lose weight put on over winter. That's great but spring has not truly arrived until a week later when they have learned to accept their bodies.

Participants wanted for senior games season

District 11 Haliburton/Muskoka 55+ Summer Games 2018

Participants and volunteers wanted for the Ontario Senior Games 55 plus 2018

1. Do you have the time to have fun in a competitive, non-threatening setting?
2. Are you seeking opportunities to socialize and meet new friends?
3. Do you feel young and energetic?
4. Do you have the energy to seek new challenges?
5. Do you want to continue to maintain an active life style?

The Ontario Senior Games Association (OSGA) and its member districts (our District 11 – Haliburton/Muskoka) welcome all adults 55 years plus.

The games are open to all levels of experience. The OSGA 55+ District Games are a fantastic way to meet new friends with a common interest in an active lifestyle.

Whether you enjoy card games, racquet sports or team sports, there is an opportunity for everyone. The Ontario 55+ Games provide a special experience for every competitor to be active physically, mentally and socially.

The District 11 games were formed 23 years ago after Bruce Henry and Bruce Armstrong first discussed the idea. The gentlemen took the idea back to Haliburton. They received a good response from the seniors. Thus a committee was formed and in 1995, District 11 held their first senior games.

During the 2018 games, athletes 55 and older will participate in Ontario senior games in their district. Our District 11 Haliburton/Muskoka will participate in a variety of athletic and non-athletic events – bid euchre, bocce, bowling – five pin, bridge – duplicate and contract, carpet bowling, cribbage, crokinole, euchre, golf – 18 holes, pickleball, shuffleboard, tennis and walking – prediction time.

In 2017, District 11 Haliburton/Muskoka had approximately 350 participants. At the age of 81, Robert McIvor has been competing every year since 2,000. New faces are appearing every year, and we would like to see more.

These events are organized for those who are wishing to remain active and are opportunities to socialize and meet new friends.

The registration fee is $17. This fee allows you to enter one or all 13 events in District 11 Summer Games 2018. Additional fees for bowling, golfing and pickleball. Organizers of District 11 Haliburton/Muskoka are encouraging athletes and volunteers to sign up. Participants deadline to register is April 16. Anyone interested in entering or volunteering should contact Mary Johnson 705 754-1884 or Doug McIntosh 705-489-3850 or The OSGA District 11 – Haliburton/Muskoka Summer Games 2018 District. Registration forms are at your local legion, Gravenhurst Seniors Centre, Pinestone Resort, 241 Pizza Haliburton or OSGA website under District 11.

Another successful Highland Lassie Bonspiel

The 43rd annual Highland Lassie Bonspiel held on Saturday, March 3 was another successful event held at the Haliburton Curling Club. This year, seven out of town teams from Port Perry (two teams), Wilberforce, Bradford, York Curling Club (two teams), and St. George's donned their traditional Scottish ware and were greeted by local teams from the Haliburton club. The committee comprised of Sue Mason, Wendy Hewson, Rachel O'Neill, Ferne Taylor, Jan Ashall, Mary Hillaby, Alison Curtis, Laila Morse, Laraine Forgrave, Linda Boore, Judy Cole, Barb Foote and Wanda Stephen organized a fantastic and eventful day.

The overall 2018 Highland Lassie winner was a team from Port Perry skipped by Chris Acton. Her team included Anne St. John, vice, Joanne Fowler, second, and Wilma Oosterholt as lead. A team from Haliburton skipped by Kim Lewis, Sheila Campbell, Cindy Campbell, and Lorienn Chilese-Suchovs scored first place honours in their draw. Lynn Bartlett from Haliburton finished second along with Barb Martin from Port Perry. Lynn had Wendy Hewson, Brenda Eastmure, and Joan Brannigan.

Cook It Up gets new chef

Cook It Up is in its fourth season. The popular training program, provided by SIRCH Community Services, gives participants a chance not only to learn food service skills, but also to practice those skills in a real restaurant. Trainees, under the direction of SIRCH's chef, open the restaurant on a day it would typically be closed, and offer a free three-course lunch to the public. This year, Cook It Up is being held at Molly's Bistro Bakery in Minden, and in the past two weeks they have served 97 people!

Recently, Diane McKnight, SIRCH's food initiatives co-ordinator and chef, was offered a full-time position in Toronto. Much as she loved her job with SIRCH, this was something she needed to pursue.

"Finding someone who is willing to come in mid-program wasn't easy," commented Gena Robertson, SIRCH's executive director. "Especially because we wanted not just a chef, but someone who would support and encourage the Cook It Up trainees and bring out the best in them. It's not a small order!"

SIRCH found two people to help. Jay McIvor has cooked in many fine restaurants in Haliburton County including Sir Sam's Inn, Pinestone Resort, The Domain of Killien, and Lockhaven. He specializes in catering to special diets (vegetarian, vegan, gluten free). McIvor is currently a chef at Camp Wanakita, but is off for the month of April, so timing was perfect for him and SIRCH. Judith Bamford had recently moved back to Haliburton County to care for her father. With a background as a food and beverage manager at Grandview Omeara, Pinestone Inn and executive positions at Deerhurst, Bamford was the perfect solution to step in and co-ordinate the classroom training, menu development and program evaluation.

"We are so fortunate to have found these talented people who will be perfect to finish the Cook It Up training program," said Robertson. "And of course we are very grateful that Brenda Coty brings continuity as the front of house trainer at Molly's Bistro each Monday. We are also very grateful to the community members who are coming to Molly's. It makes a world of difference for the trainees to have experience in a real restaurant in real time. Customers have provided excellent feedback and the trainees are loving it."

SIRCH will be advertising for a new food initiatives co-ordinator to oversee Community Kitchen, the Summer Lunch program (at the Haliburton School of Art and Design), other food initiatives that are still in the planning stages, as well as Cook It Up 2019.

For further information, contact Gena Robertson, executive director 705-457-1742 ext 23.
